

No Negro Baseball At Briggs Stadium

Many have been interested in knowing whether or not Negro baseball will be played at Briggs Stadium this season.

It will be remembered that for the past four or five years, John R. Williams has been the promoter of such games. However, it is understood that Mr. Williams is planning to be in California this summer and both George M. Trautman, new general manager of Briggs Stadium, and John R. Williams declare that there will be no Negro baseball played at the local American League park during the current season.
